

LibKey Nomad Browser extension

1. Go to <https://thirdiron.com/downloadnomad/>
2. Click the 'download' button under your preferred browser.

3. Click 'Add to Chrome' (or whatever browser you have selected), then click 'add extension'.

4. Select 'Arden University' as the organisation.

5. Search the internet for your chosen resources and look out for the Nomad icons that show where access is provided through Arden's Library collections or available as open access material. The icons will show on publisher's pages and when you click through to access from Google Scholar.

A screenshot of a research article page. The article is titled "Towards digital transformation: Lessons learned from traditional organizations†" by John Loonam, Sally Eaves, Vikas Kumar, and Glenn Parry. It was first published on 26 March 2018. The article is from the journal "Briefings in Entrepreneurial Finance", Volume 27, Issue 2, Special Issue: Digital Business Models, March 2018, Pages 101-109. The page includes an abstract, a "Read the full text" link, and a "Citation Statements" section. A red rectangular box highlights a dark blue button with a green drop icon and the text "Article Link Arden University". To the right of the article, there is an advertisement for "English language editing for your manuscript" by WILEY. Below the advertisement, the "Citation Statements" section shows: Supporting (1), Mentioning (30), and Contrasting (0).
